Knights of the Birch in Convention.

"I always take a back seat when I am in a foreign country." So said Col. F. W. Parker, as he stepped into a carriage yesterday afternoon; but as the Colonel is head and shoulders over his cold-borders in Education in his own country, we think it must have been his native modesty that prompted the remark. He is principal of Cook County Normal School, Chicago. He visits Manitoba on the invitation of the Western Teachers' Association to take part in the Convention to-day and to-morrow. The Col. will address the convention each day, and on Friday evening will deliver a public lecture in the Methodist church, to which the citizens are invited. A reporter who was introduced to him said he was pleased to visit Manitoba as he had never been here before, although he had often visited eastern Canada. He wished to say to the citizens that he wanted to talk to them and that he hoped to have the opportunity on Friday evening. As for the work of the convention he put himself in the hands of the teachers; he has done a great deal of this work and is willing to assist the teachers as much as possible. The Col. is a typical American, and his bright, witty talk makes one interested at once. Several Brandonites were on the train with the Colonel coming from Chicago and they are delighted with him—one of them saying he had got a hundred dollars' worth of information from him on the trip. The reporter was also introduced to Mr. John Dearness, a leading Canadian educator of London, Ont., who has also been invited to assist at the convention. Like Col. Parker, Mr. Dearness is making his first visit to Brandon, and he is pleased with what he has seen; remarking on the location of the city, he said nature had evidently done great things for Brandon. It is to be hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the privilege to hear Col. Parker's lecture as his reputation for public speaking is continental.

The following is the programme. THURSDAY. President's Address—A. S. Ross. Place of Natural Science in School Curriculum—W. D. Sharpe, B. A. English Literature—Miss I. B. Hooper, B. A. Discipline—John Dearness, I. P. S. London, Ont. A Talk to Teachers—Col. F. W. Parker, Cook County, normal school Illinois. FRIDAY. Occupation of pupils at seats—Inspector Dearness. Preparation for citizenship—W. A. McIntyre, Normal school, Winnipeg. Music—Its moulding influence on character—Mrs. Davidson, Brandon. Aids—Col. F. W. Parker. Ventilation of rural school houses—Inspector Dearness. On Friday evening, by F. W. Parker, Subject: "Artist or Artisan, which?"

The N. P. Safe Blown Open.

Mr. Brisbin, N. P. Agent in Brandon, had quite a surprise party on going to the station Saturday morning to find some of the windows smashed and the doors considerably injured. It appeared to him first that the guns of the C. P. R. had opened on it, or that the engagement of Fort Whyte had been repeated, but when he went inside and saw the big safe door wrenched from its hinges and thrown on the floor with the drawers of the receptacle plundered, he changed his mind, and concluded it was a case of safe cracking and robbery during the night. The work was done by boring a small hole through the top by tools taken from chests in the new City Hall after wrenching off the lid, and then blowing off the safe door by the use of powder. As about three times the amount of powder required to do the business easily and as quietly as possible, was used, it is clear the business was done by amateurs. Many people living in the vicinity heard the noise at the time of the explosion, about 5 o'clock, but no one appears to have at once repaired to the spot, or to have made immediate enquiry. The thieves got $64 for their trouble, and so far they are unknown to the eye that never sleeps.

Any gifts in the shape of papers or interesting books will be thankfully received at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Those of our citizens who have children attending school, should endeavor as far as possible to attend the Teachers' convention here to-day and to-morrow.

Fall Shows.

The following fall shows will be held along the M. & N. W. line: Minnedosa, Oct. 7. Neepawa Oct. 13 and 14. Shoal Lake, Oct. 13. Russell, Oct. 7. Birds, Oct. 1 and 2. Salt Creek, Oct. 7. Yorkton, Oct. 8.

WHEAT.

As yet, although about 50,000 bushels of wheat have been put into the Brandon elevators, the market is not fairly established nor will it be until the grading is fully fixed. A quantity, however, has been bought and a few carloads have been shipped. The highest price paid is 80c. and 76c. is the prevailing quotation for good samples. The estimate of the dealers is from the best information they can gather, that while there is not in this vicinity a very large percentage of the crops wholly untouchable and half the crop will be a good milling article and bring a good price, and much of the remainder will bring a fair price as it will make good flour. Taken all in all, this ought to be one of the best years the farmers of the country have ever seen.

Adding Insult to Injury.

EDITOR STROM:—In the Aberdeen News of September 4th appeared an article headed "The Manitoba boomers are again here." Manitoba ought to keep on the quiver! The News goes on to say, "The Manitoba boomers are again in the city and it is fair to presume they are not here for their health." Correct, no person would come here for his health, or to add to his wealth. The News goes on, "Through their untiring efforts quite a number of dissatisfied farmers in this part of South Dakota have been induced to cast their lots and try their luck in the remoteness of that far-off country." How is this? The News said last spring that not one farmer would go, that he, the News man, had "tripped the Manitoba boom up the back." One of the three things has happened; the News failed to tell the truth then or is not telling it now or otherwise the Big Rip he made up the back healed up very quickly and the patient seems to be not only healthy but very active at present. The News goes on, "It behooves the merchants to now be on their guard, for it is doubted if a single instance can be furnished by them of men who left Dakota who did not beat or attempt to beat their creditors. A greater falsehood was never planned." What are the facts? Three hundred souls shipped from this district this summer by railway in broad daylight. And the last train, a long one, carried a banner three hundred feet long, on which the following mottoes were printed in letters two feet long, viz: No more two per cent per month? No more five miles water haul? No more three bushels per acre? No more bankers associations? Good bye South Dakota, we are off for the Canadian Northwest where there is plenty of Home-Steal land, plenty of timber, water, hay and grass, and interest 8 per cent. This was public enough one would think to suit even the News, and it stamps "falsehood" on the insinuation that these farmers left here secretly. The fact is the News never forgave the farmers for the Independent ticket last year, and the News like Tam O'Shanter's wife.

"With lowering brow like gathering storm." "She nurses her wrath to keep it warm."

What has the News ever done for these farmers? Has it ever denounced those outrageous rates of interest, or said a warning word against high taxes, or high and exorbitant railway rates? Not one word, and now that so many farmers are beaten here owing to repeated failure of crops, and must go somewhere to make a living, the News has not one word of sympathy for them, but by its utterances exhibits a total lack of christian charity.

If the News wishes to do these farmers a service, it would tell them the facts, that in the Canadian Northwest there is plenty free, fertile Homestead land, plenty of wood, hay, grass, taxes are only four dollars per quarter section, and interest only eight per cent per annum, where there are good schools, churches, railways, where good prices are obtained for all kinds of farm produce, where thousands of farmers have made comfortable homes, and many are rapidly accumulating wealth, no healthier country on this continent. Now, Sir, if the News had any bowels, not to speak of a heart, they should have told the farmers of the wonderful agricultural resources of that magnificent country, but instead of doing so it abuses those who go as farmers were never abused before and this is a clear case of adding insult to injury.

But to those farmers when they come to our office over Fee's drug store in Aberdeen, we give information which if followed carefully will enable them to make comfortable and happy homes, where they can enjoy all that man is permitted to enjoy on earth.

Cowardly Sailors.

London, Sept. 22.—A Dutch journal, one of the survivors of the Italian steamer Taormina recently sunk after collision with the Greek steamer Thessalia off Cape Coroua, has written a letter in which he makes serious charges against the officers of the Taormina. He says the crew of the Italian vessel, led by the first officer, badly deserted the captain and clambered like rats on board the Thessalia. Only a handful of sailors remained loyal and they were unable to lower the boats. The journalist adds that passengers could not find any life belts or life saving apparatus of any kind, and he attributes great loss of life to these defects. He then forcibly comments on the sending out to sea of a steamer so wretchedly equipped and one with so large a number of passengers on board.

THE ADVICE SOCIAL.

A Novel Way of Replenishing an Empty Treasury.

As Santa Ynez was a small town, a small matter produced a great sensation. Real estate speculations, auction sales and late arrivals, all paled into insignificance, when compared with the doings of a certain Thursday evening. The affair was carefully credited to a pair of New England maidens, usually known as "those Pinkney girls." The girls in question had the invention and quick wittedness which characterize the natives of Yankee land, but which never attains its full height until it is transplanted to California soil. Helen and Bertha Pinkney had long ago exhausted the social resources of Santa Ynez. They walked, they drove, they joined Spanish conversation classes and took lessons on the guitar. They wrote glowing letters to the home papers about the climate and scenery around Santa Ynez. They did their best to cheer up poor Mrs. Pinkney, who pined for the bleak and chilling air of dear Massachusetts.

"I have made a discovery," announced Bertha one morning when she returned from her walk.

"Another?" remarked her sister, not looking up from her book.

"None do show more interest, Helen. There is the nicest little free kindergarten in the lower part of Olive avenue. I have just been visiting it, and I know all about the teacher and everything. It's nominally supported by the Santa Ynez Free Kindergarten association, but there are almost no funds in the treasury. There, now, you're beginning to look enthused. What are you thinking about?"

"My dream last night, and I was wondering if it wouldn't make an original entertainment."

"For what? Oh, I see, the kindergarten benefit. I hope it wasn't a pop-gun social, or a neocrite and apron performance, or a donkey party."

"No, indeed, this was something new, and with a few changes will do very well for our grand benefit."

There was a box in the Santa Ynez drugstore. It had a slit in its top, and it was labelled:

"ADVICE BOX."

On its front was pasted the following notice:

"Persons who wish to give advice on any topic are invited to make use of this box. Communications must be unsigned and placed in envelopes, which must be addressed to the person for whom the advice is intended. The box will be opened and advice distributed at the 'Advice Social.' Proceeds of entertainment for the free kindergarten. Notice of time and place given later."

The young drug clerk smiled to himself when he saw how eagerly the box was approached. Though he appeared to be looking another way, he knew when the envelopes were slipped into the narrow opening. Helen and Bertha spent their spare time in writing letters of advice. They were at this moment scribbling for dear life. Helen at her desk and Bertha at the round table. Finally Helen looked over to her sister.

"We must make this a success, Bertha. If we write every bit of it. I spoke to Leoni Everett this morning, and she agreed to 'type-write' them and turn the originals. She is Millbank's confidential secretary, you know, and as silent as the grave."

"Yes, she's just the one to do that part of it. You ought to hear my last piece of advice. It's for Frank Kittredge."

"You are advised not to wear such gorgeous ties. You have good taste in other matters, but your vivid ties spoil the general effect. You are also too fond of making yourself the topic of conversation. Your likes and dislikes, your experiences and your relatives, are more interesting to you than to other people."

"Why, Bertha Pinkney, how could you say such things to me? Nobody wants to talk to a handsome, good-natured young man such as I am. But nobody can dispute two facts—those flaming ties and his everlasting 'I's. Well, I didn't expect to fall into rhyme unawares."

"I am going to disguise the style of my advice letters as much as possible," said Helen. "Take this, for instance, to Anna Peel:

"Friend of my heart, there is but one flaw in the beautiful jewel of your being, in your melodious lute one tiny rift. Your voice is music and your smile enchantment, but your laughter—like sweet bells out of tune, and jars upon the ear. Would you be free from defects? Modify that laugh or dispense with it altogether. These words come from one who admires you sincerely." There, will anyone accuse me of writing that?" said Helen, laughing in spite of herself.

"I think not. Now I have thought of something. We must write ourselves some advice letters, more severe than any that we send away. Then we can show them to others, and they won't feel that we have escaped."

The town hall in Santa Ynez was decorated for the Advice Social. On the wall back of the platform, the following appropriate words were placed:

"To see ourselves as others see us."

The friends of the Free Kindergarten were all there. They sat back comfortably, with the placidity which only follows a large sale of tickets. As one whispered to another, it made no difference whether the hall was full or not, the money was virtually in the treasury. But the hall began to fill at an early hour, and by eight o'clock there was not a vacant seat to be seen. Bertha and Helen Pinkney played a brilliant four-hand piece on the grand piano, which received little attention and less applause. A few humorous songs and readings followed, but for some reason or other they seemed dull or silly.

"They act just like children at a Christmas entertainment," whispered Bertha to her sister. "They can't wait."

tribution of Advice." Name after name was read by the young drug clerk, and the envelopes were carried by pages. The young man dispensed some of his last, but not his best, advice, though he did not compound the mixture. The expressions on the faces of the audience were worth the study of an artist.

One young fellow tore open his envelope, glanced at its contents and stuffed it into his pocket.

"Here, I want to see that," said his companion.

"I'll show you mine; come now, Jack, what ails you, anyway?"

Jack turned an angry red and stubbornly refused to display his piece of advice. Some girls in front were amused by their discoveries.

"Oh, I just know who wrote this," whispered the prettiest one to her next neighbor.

"It was old Miss Smith. I know it just as well as if she had signed her name at the bottom. It sounds just exactly like her: You are too pert and forward for a young woman; your elders have learned wisdom by experience, and it would be much better if you were guided by their judgment. You are too bold and noisy when you are in company with young men. Though they may laugh and joke with you, they respect modesty and reserve. There, I suppose because I do have lots of attention, she thinks I must encourage them, but I don't, do I, Maud?"

"Of course you don't," the faithful Maud answered, her big round face vainly trying to express her indignation. After reading her own bit of advice, she turned to her friend for sympathy.

"Isn't this great? Just listen, will you: You are one of the kindest and best of girls, and you must not mind it if a true friend speaks plainly to you. If you wear dark colors and simple styles, your size is not noticeable, but you are too fond of large plaids and conspicuous effects. There, that's what mother is always telling me, but I do love bright scarlet and blue or yellow; my new dress is one of those big plaids, all bias, you know. Well, I'll have to make the best of it, now I've got it."

A few feet away sat Maurice Henderson and his pretty young wife. They were the only children of admiring parents, were handsome, rich and lately married. The little wife looked up into her husband's face as he read his letter of advice. His dark eyes flashed for a moment as he read: "You hid behind a mask, but your real inclinations are known to one at least. You may deceive your wife, that would certainly be an easy matter, but you cannot deceive the author of these words. There are glances which cannot be controlled, gestures and expressions which betray your secret."

Maurice crumpled his paper carelessly and feigned to drop it on the floor, but in reality he kept it for a second reading. In the seat behind them sat Mrs. Estabrooke, the leader in church socials, bazars and festivals. She was reading the following words: "You are a good housekeeper, a good mother and a great worker in public affairs. You deserve to be commended for all these, but there is one thing in which you fail. It is in the treatment of your husband. It is your habit to make fun of his peculiarities and contradict his opinions. This is carried on to such an extent that it annoys your visitors or friends who happen to be present. Your children imitate your spirit, and have little or no respect for their father. Though he is not self-assertive or arbitrary, he is listened to by men of intelligence and judgment, who are able to appreciate his qualities." Mrs. Estabrooke looked around the hall to see if she could discover the person who would dare to address such advice to her, but each seemed occupied with the mysterious messages. Helen and Bertha Pinkney received a joint letter, and read it together:

"This advice is intended for you both; for one just as much as for the other. I suppose you originated this affair, but it seems almost as if the evil one must have suggested it. You have come to Santa Ynez from some little country town in New England, where they have more brains than sense, but you are always careful to speak of yourselves as coming right from 'Boston.' Probably you think that will give you some advantage over western people, who are 'so uncultured.' No, I never heard you use those words, but your manner showed that you thought them. You easterners are used to living in a little, cramped-up corner of the universe, that you may get small in all your ways. You study everything you see through your glasses, and look at it critically. The great country of the west is something more than a great show for you to be amused by watching. We are not so refined that we can't enjoy life, and I hope we never shall be. But we don't expect to be revised or edited by you or your advice, and we are glad of a chance to say so."

"Oh, oh," said Helen and Bertha at the same time.

"It must be a joke."

"No, somebody—"

"Some woman."

"Yes, probably, some woman is paying off old scores."

"But who could it be?"

"Oh, I don't know. It's time to go home now, and if you think best, I'll play a march for a postlude."

The consequences of that evening could not have been prophesied. Those who were formerly the best of friends regarded each other with unconcealed suspicion. Members of the same family made accusations and received denials. Each one felt as if his neighbor were untrustworthy, and as if an unguarded moment would be paid for by a home thrust. The only person in Santa Ynez who did not regret the affair was the cheery little kindergarten teacher.

"It's made our school a certainty for this year and a part of next, anyway. By that time somebody may be able to think of something which will be as financially successful as the famous 'Advice Social.'—Mary Peabody Sawyer, in Boston Budget."

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Mr. W. C. Fidler, of St. Paul's parish, says he is not the Fidler who was recently mixed up in a chaperone case. "I can get a wife without running away with her," said Mr. Fidler, after he had entered into a full denial of the charge that he had recently eloped.

A brilliantly colored poster, turned out from the Medicine Hat Times office, has been received. It advertises the fifth annual fall exhibition of the Medicine Hat Agricultural society on October 7th and 8th. Prizes aggregating $1,000 will be offered. There will be horse racing and other attractions.

Information leading to the whereabouts of Messenger Thorp, who is described as a young man, 20 years of age, medium complexion, broad shoulders, standing 5 ft. 9 in. in height, and who left Leeds, England, on or about the 25th of July, 1889, will be gratefully received by Mr. Bennett, Dominion Immigration agent, Winnipeg, on behalf of Mr. Thorp's friends.

An inquest was held at Whitecourt last week on the body of the boy murdered by his father, J. E. Westerlund. The unfortunate man is helplessly insane. During the inquiry he read his bible and now and then cried like a child. The whole family of seven children and mother are now dead; the last one, an infant, passing away Friday last. The jury returned a verdict that the boy came to his death at the hands of his father, while the latter was temporarily insane.

Mr. Ross, superintendent of C. P. R. bridges and building, returned to Winnipeg on Wednesday week from a trip over the Brandon-Souris branch. He went to the end of the track. By his work, the extension is now finished twenty miles west of Melita. Mr. Ross says numerous towns are springing up in southwestern Manitoba, and all seem to be growing. A new hotel of stone, has been commenced at Melita. The superintendent went over the Glenora branch today to inspect the bridges in course of construction.

Capt. McCormack, of Grand Forks, says: "You talk about freight discrimination, but here is one I think that beats the world. When I was at Seattle I inquired as to whether or not they would handle North Dakota flour. All the dealers were not only willing but anxious to get it. When I returned I asked the boys why they did not ship some flour here. They said freight was too high. I looked up the matter and found that although I could send a barrel of flour from here to Liverpool for eighty cents it took just two dollars and forty cents a barrel to ship it to Seattle. There is discrimination that discriminates."

GREAT STORM DAMAGES.

Enormous Losses to Shipping and Also Farm Buildings and Crops.

London, Sept. 22.—The River Dee has been raised 20 feet by a tide flooding the adjacent country for miles. Storms have enormously damaged crops throughout England, North Wales and South Scotland.

Liverpool, Sept. 22.—A hurricane swept over the river Mersey yesterday, doing considerable damage to shipping. At Blackpool, Lancashire, houses have been inundated, and a great amount of damage done to crops. Reports from several sections of North Wales show the storm has flooded valleys in that section of the country. Farmers suffered severely. The Berwick lifeboat went out twice to the Danish schooner Troja and the schooner Andover. Both vessels were wrecked but the crews with the exception of one seaman, were saved with the aid of rocket apparatus. Navigation on the Tweed is dangerous on account of floating trees and wreckage. Immense quantities of corn are washing down the river.

Paris, Sept. 22.—A cold wave with hail has damaged fruit in this vicinity.

Death of a Pastor.

Rev. Theo. Cook, minister of the Episcopal church, at Westbourne, died at the parsonage at that place Monday morning. The deceased was widely known and much beloved by all, having been engaged in the suffering of the church for many years. He was ordained over 30 years ago, but before that time was engaged in missionary labors for several years. He had been a resident of Westbourne for some years prior to his death, and had endeared himself, not only to the hearts of his congregation, but likewise to all who knew him. He was a native of the province.

GENERAL NEWS.

Madrid, Sept. 24.—An express train running between Burgos and San Sebastian came into collision with a combined goods and passenger train. Fourteen persons were killed and twenty-four injured. The switchman responsible for the accident has been arrested.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 24.—A collision occurred at Elwood, on the Pittsburg & Western, at 5 o'clock this morning. Six persons were killed outright and eight seriously wounded.

Pine City, Mich., Sept. 24.—At last the fierce forest fires which have been raging in this vicinity have resulted in a fatality. This morning five farm hands engaged in fighting the flames several miles from here, were surrounded by the fire and before they could escape were burned to death.

Calgary, Sept. 24.—Shoulitz, who was to have been tried about the first of next month for the Jacques jewellery robbery broke jail about 3 o'clock this morning. His escape was discovered in less than fifteen minutes after midnight, and the mounted police are now scouring the country, but so far no trace of the prisoner has been found. It is generally supposed his escape was planned from the outside by parties whom the evidence expected to be given at the trial, would injure.

THE SULTAN SUSPICIOUS.

Believed He Meditates Placing Himself Under Russian Protection in Case of War.

London, Sept. 22.—A Constantinople dispatch says the Sultan has become convinced after a thorough investigation, that there is no foundation for the charge that Kismet Pasha, the late grand vizier, was engaged in a plot for his dethronement. He is convinced that Kismet failed to do his duty in other matters affecting the foreign policy and domestic administration of the empire, and therefore the late grand vizier will not be restored to favor. It now appears that the reason which the Sultan had for his recent leaning towards Russia was information from a source which he credited to the effect that the Egyptian Khedive had a plot on foot to detach Arabia from Turkish dominions and rule over that country as a part of Egypt and under British protection with the native Arabian rulers retaining a certain share of independence. There seems to be no doubt that such a plan has been proposed in Egypt, but merely as a scheme to be carried out in the event that the Russians should capture Constantinople and dismember the Ottoman empire. In that event the Khedive would probably assert his independence to annex Arabia. There has been no plot against the Sultan on the part of the Egyptian Government. It is said that the Sultan is using the self-control for which he has been noted, and is becoming very nervous and suspicious of everybody, and some of the leading Turks suspect him of a design to place himself and his treasures under the guardianship of Russia, against another war break out.

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

The Lake Dauphin mail is to be carried from Neepawa beginning with the first. Jas. Bedford has secured the contract. It will leave every second Thursday at 4:30 p.m. after the arrival of the train from the east and will reach Gertmore on Saturday. Returning, it will leave Gertmore at 9 a.m. on Monday and reach Neepawa before the train goes east on Wednesday.—Neepawa Register.

Mr. and Mrs. John Arch. McDonald, formerly of the Hudson Bay Post, Strathclair, now of Lake Nepean, had the misfortune to have their dwelling house destroyed by fire last week. The fire occurred in the night but fortunately they happened to awaken and discover the fire, and were barely in time to save the lives of themselves and children. Mrs. McDonald went west to her father's, Mr. R. Campbell, on Saturday evening.

The Calgary Tribune says: On Friday morning Mr. L. Turner, of Montreal, arrived in the town, and during the day drove north with the intention of seeing the country as far north as Edmonton. He is expecting for a large number of families in Germany who promise to come to Canada to settle and who are desirous of finding in what part of the country they shall locate before coming, so that there shall be as little expense as possible connected with their removal from the old country to their farms in the new. Mr. Turner undertook the commission and has for the past two months been visiting various portions in Manitoba and the Northwest. When he returns from Edmonton he will have completed his work and will go back to Montreal, from where he will send his report. This is the first trip west of Winnipeg, and he is much impressed with the possibilities of the country.

So lovely the charms of the lily white skin.

Of ethereal form and languishing eye, Whose rays in the sunshine and drooping shade.

And a melody "just ready to die."

Brought me the girl with the sunny smile.

Too blind in whose veins courses health and free.

With the vigor of youth in her movements of grace.

Oh, that is the maiden for me!

She is the girl to "die" for life. The only, compelling woman may be an object of love and pity, but she comes to be a thing of beauty, worn down by female weakness and disorders, subject to hysteria and a martyr to bearing down pains. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure cure for these distressing complaints and will transform the feeble, drooping, ailing woman into a healthy, blooming beauty. Guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it refunded.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Along the river the tide is twenty feet high, driven up the river by a gale, that has effected a backed the floods coming down. The result is, of course, that the river has overflowed for miles, and for long stretches only the hedge tops are visible throughout the country bordering on its banks. Reports from all parts of North Wales, England and South Scotland show irreparable damage to crops. Trains which started yesterday from Edinburgh for London were obliged to return. At Aberdeen the rain continued to fall for thirty-six hours. A large number of sheep were drowned. Northern gales, which have been causing so much damage in England and Scotland, have grown worse instead of calming down. The latest news is that a number of coasting vessels are ashore and lost between Tyne and the Forth.

BRANDON MAIL.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1891.

THE G. N. W. C. R. R.

Word reaches us the contractor and the G. N. W. C. R. R. Co. are now coming to terms, and the road will likely be in operation shortly. It would serve both parties right even if some arbitrary steps were taken by the government, to secure the operation of that line, when the parties most interested appear to be unable to arrive at any terms, amicably. It is a crying shame that the settlers living along this line should be subjected to the annoyance and hardships they have been subjected to please the whims of either company or contractor. It would, of course be unfair to have any thing done that would destroy the contractor's claim, and enable him to compel the company to pay money they should not pay, but no consideration of such matters atones for the losses and hardships the settlers of that section have suffered for many years. It is a great pity something was not done a year ago, whereby the road could have been operated even by a third party, without affecting the relationship to the line of either company or contractor.

What may be the intentions of the company as to route, we are unable to say, but it is quite apparent a good service would be done the country if the line were either deflected to run into Birdie or had a branch built to that end. This would give the whole north country direct connection with Brandon which appears to be very much desired. Already quite a large jobbing trade is done in Brandon with the country around, and at a considerable saving to the people, and if only the connection were made that trade could be extended up into the entire northwest portion of the province, much to the convenience of a large number of very industrious settlers.

REAL ESTATE IN THE CITY.

There are some who comment on our strictures last week on the effort of some "to boom" real estate in the city. We feel every word we said was the truth, and all who look at the matter in a calm, sensible light must agree with us. Of course the alleged opinions of those who want to rid themselves of real estate in the place for the purpose of investing their money elsewhere, are worth nothing at all. Those of all who intend to retain substantial interests in the place must be fairly and honestly considered; but they in turn must weight the opinions of others. Two, however, who may have an equal interest in the growth of a place may have diametrically opposite views, one of which must, of course, be wrong.

As a matter of fact no one has a moral right to dictate to another as to what he should ask or offer for town lots or rents; but in a community like this where all desire a healthy and steady growth of the place everything affecting that growth must be fully considered. We repeat what we said last week, that the profits a dealer can make in a given business on a given stand is the only element to be considered in regulating the price of real estate or rentals asked for premises. In isolated cases some dealers may be specially well provided with cash or credit and by venturesomeness begotten of special knowledge or fitness for a business, buy better and larger and make better strokes of business and, therefore, outstrip their colleagues in the race, and others again by lack of these essentials fall woefully behind. But neither of these two classes must be taken as a measure. The guide must be in the mean between the two where the masses of dealers are found.

Booming real estate means advancing rents to the business men of the place and the question is can these pay higher rents in justice to themselves and those they are dealing with. Advances in rent do not increase the volume of business. With increased rent business men must either diminish their margin of profits or advance prices. If they do the latter it will divert trade into other channels, and, therefore, injure the place, and if they do the former they must either injure themselves or their creditors, either of which would be a fatal blow to the place. If a place is to have a good name in supplying centres, the business men must be prosperous and contented, and they cannot be either with the heart eaten out of their business by high rents or other like expenses. For a man to say to a tenant, "if you are not willing to pay the rent I ask get out and I have another man to take your place" in a general way is but a suicidal policy. The land lord may have a man willing to offer the rent the other feels unable to pay, but it may be but an offer, when he tries his trade he may meet the experience of his predecessor, if not something worse, and the more business men change in a place the more exception may properly be taken to its importance as a business centre. What we have said here is not intended solely for local application but as reasoning that fully applies to any business point in the country.

CHANGE OF OFFICE.—Mr. W. J. May, of Brandon, has been appointed Clerk of the County Court of North Dakota in the place of H. W. White who has held the position since the county was formed. Mr. May lived here seven years ago, removing to Virden and thence to Brandon, which he left to accept the present appointment. He is well known and favorably known here. On Tuesday the books were transferred by L. J. Clement, of Brandon, to one of those beautiful, airy and comfortable offices in the Huckle Block. While we are quite sure the officer now in charge will give those doing business with him, good satisfaction, we cannot help expressing our regret that an old resident and courteous official such as Mr. White, should be shied by a government which in its civil service department has always professed to aim at "efficiency at lowest cost regardless of party."

The foregoing is from the Carberry News, a Greenway paper. We agree with the News in saying that Mr. May is well and favorably known, but like our confere we are convinced this does not justify the government in the wrong they have perpetrated on Mr. White. Mr. May assisted Mr. Sifton in "making up" the voters' lists of North Brandon, he did some canvassing and an amount of "hoopoeing up" in his friend's interest at public meetings, but even all these services would not justify a government that had a due regard for proper official administration, to indulge the wrong the Greenways have done to Mr. White. When ousting Mr. E. Evans from the county clerkship in Brandon, economy was the plea put forth; but as their stock of even "pleas" appears now to be exhausted, they effect the change of Carberry as the News feels it "in cold blood." The News admits, as everyone who knows the gentleman must admit that Mr. White was always a most painstaking, efficient officer; his books were always straight and his accounts correct. The only objection to him is that he is not a Greenwayite, and that is considered sufficient. Now, the question is are the electors of Manitoba going to bear with this kind of nepotism or something worse.

When it was found a Reformatory at Brandon was a farce, Mr. Sifton's father, the superintendent of the useless institution was provided with a new berth specially created for him; and now when it is felt something had to be done for Mr. May, for services rendered, the reformatory was to drive from office "without rhyme or reason" one of the best officials the country has ever had, admittedly so even by Greenway prints. We again ask the question are the electors in the coming general election going to allow such doings to pass current in the country?

It was, of course, only to be expected that Mr. L. J. Clement should receive some pickings out of the transfer. The valuable services he rendered in North Brandon, in his own peculiar style of "argument" entitle him to some favors.

It is deeply to be regretted things have come to such a pass at Ottawa. The other day a vote was taken upon the evidence in the Langevin case—in the form of two reports, one by the Conservatives of the committee and one by the Grits, and the government report was carried by a majority of only 15, the smallest yet recorded in this parliament. In view of the situation of things many a man was compelled to his convictions. For the government to have condemned Langevin, would have been to accomplish their own destruction, as it would have driven Langevin and his supporters in the House and out of it (and they are numerous) into straight opposition. The opposition on the other hand, so eager are they for possession of the flesh pots at any price, could not confine their condemnation to the acts of Langevin alone they had to include the innocent with the guilty to embrace the whole government, in a sweeping denunciation. Many a representative, then, who was convinced of Langevin's guilt had still to stand by him because of the unfairness of the report of the opposition. There is no doubt but that there were grave wrongs in connection with Langevin's management of his department, by which the country lost considerable money; but in the nature of things the whole government was not responsible for it any more than one clerk in a store is responsible for the wrongs of another, but the principle involved in the Grit report would hold him responsible for them. If the Grit party had only tempered their report with moderation common sense and fair play it might have carried, but as they could not the majority of the House had no alternative but adopt the other, even though it went in many respects to the other extreme.

It looks now as if Mr. A. M. Peterson is not making as much out of his North-west Pacific "gobble" as he thought he would. Our readers will remember, when locating the terminus was first, talked of many thought the company had a preference for the Molestation property, or further still a union station, which would have been best for all interested. Having the inside track, however, Mr. Peterson induced the company to locate the depot where it is, and he then thought in a year or two his fortune would be made up by the sale of lots in the vicinity. He now finds, however, the public do not want to build costly houses on the top of railways, and as a consequence the best houses are going up east and west and Mr. Peterson's lots remain largely in his own possession, and "for keeps."

We publish in other columns three articles from the Star, published at Aberdeen, South Dakota—one an editorial on chattel mortgages, another by a correspondent of the paper on a comparison between Dakota and the Canadian Northwest, and the third a letter from W. A. Webster, that every Grit in Canada ought to read. Certainly the Dakotan who has left that country after enjoying all the privileges it holds out to a settler and who has tested things in this country ought to give an opinion that is worth something; and a journal that is published in that country, endeavoring to make its living there, can have no object in misrepresenting things as they are found there. The newspaper says the people there are plastered to death by real and chattel mortgages, and it shows a state of things that anyone acquainted with the facts in this country must say is at once deplorable. How in the face of such evidence any one can stand up and say taxation in this country, whether it be from customs or otherwise, is ruining the Canadian Northwest is a something no sensible man can understand. We advise all to carefully read these articles.

A little has been said about the prevalent habit of people from the country, who, when they go to church, tie their horses to the fences adjoining the place of worship. True, these horses must give more or less annoyance to the people whose fences are utilized for the purpose of tieposts, and as many horses have the habit of cribbing, pawing and committing other acts of destruction, they must do considerable damage. To one who takes pride in keeping a tidy place, we cannot but agree, that it is extremely aggravating to see his fences being gradually eaten up by strange horses. If we might be excused for offering a suggestion we would say that this difficulty could be easily overcome, by the churches interested taking hold of the matter, and erecting a sort of rail around the rear of their churches, or some other convenient place. The ordinary fence post placed in position, with a strong 2x4 scantling nailed on top would suffice. The fence would then be their own, and farmers who wished to attend service in the city, would not have the feeling that they were trespassing whenever they drove to church.

At Last.

We Hear the Welcome Toot of the G. N. W. C.

Toronto, Sept. 29.—The big railway suit of Charlebois versus the Great Northern and Central Railway Company terminated abruptly yesterday by the company agreeing that judgment should be entered for upwards of $900,000 with interest, for Charlebois and those claiming under him. This sum is payable six months hence and is secured by a first charge or lien of the whole of the company's property and lands which the judgment directs shall be sold next March in case the company makes default in payment. The company cannot meanwhile deal with its lands or bonds except to pay Charlebois and other lien holders. The action taken by the company against Charlebois has been discontinued. The company is at liberty to take possession of the road meanwhile.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—At Osgoode Hall, Toronto, yesterday Judge Ferguson granted a decree giving President Codd possession of the road and dismissing Charlebois' injunction. The road will be operated this season.

What A South Dakota Farmer Saw.

To my friends and neighbors in Brown county, S. D.
I left Aberdeen August 27th, for the purpose of examining the agricultural resources of the Canadian Northwest with a view of settling there. Next day I arrived at Winnipeg, a magnificent city full of life and business, here Mr. Eden kindly gave me transportation over his road to Yorktown, the present terminus, from here I drove 45 miles to Lake Shelo where the South Dakota colony is located where I met a number of old friends who received me with open arms and gave me a warm welcome. Next morning a friend drove me out to look for a location and I tell you friends it did not take me long to find just what I wanted. I selected a quarter section on the edge of a beautiful lake of water, a nice place to make a home. Plenty of timber for building, fencing and fuel. The crops between Winnipeg and Yorktown are the finest I ever saw in my life. Harvest was nearly finished and threshing was going on in many places. The farmers I met in Manitoba all seemed to be prosperous. In conclusion I tell my friends, that I found the country much better than the agents at Aberdeen represented it to me, and I am going there to make my home, and I do so with and after personal observation.

Mr. Thos. Lee's little boy had a leg broken in doing nicely, so also is Mr. Mann who met with a similar misfortune. As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns Zink Brothers cart on hand with an immense supply of foot wear of every description.

Postmaster Stone of Rapid City and Jno. J. McCallum of the same place were in the city yesterday.

Conductor Barton's child was unfortunately enough to have its wrist broken the other day, by falling out of a swing.

Contractor Cope has the new city hall now nearly all roofed in and will be at the inside work in a very short time. The material is all of the best, and the finish is first class, when completed it will be a very imposing structure, one that would be an ornament to a place many times the size of Brandon. It will add much to Mr. Cope's popularity as a builder.

The Life of Sir John Macdonald.

To the Editor,—Sir: Many years ago I proposed to Sir John Macdonald that I should write the story of his life. He concurred, and I have since devoted a great deal of time and labor to the collection of the necessary material. In 1883 Mr. J. E. Collins published a book entitled "The Life and Times of Sir John A. Macdonald." As soon as this came to my knowledge I wrote to Sir John, who was then at Riviere du Loup, to ascertain to what degree, if any, it had been authorized by him, and what opinion he had formed of it. His reply was: "I don't think it amounts to much; I declined giving him any information, as I did not want to throw to Sir John, who was then at Riviere du Loup, to ascertain to what degree, if any, it had been authorized by him, and what opinion he had formed of it. His reply was: "I don't think it amounts to much; I declined giving him any information, as I did not want to throw to Sir John, who was then at Riviere du Loup, to ascertain to what degree, if any, it had been authorized by him, and what opinion he had formed of it. Frozen or not Frozen ? THAT IS THE QUESTION

And not only to the residents of this Province, but to every bread-winner in the Dominion, and to others as well, is the above a significant query.

To give an accurate or even an indefinite reply to this important question is not the purpose of the people who pay for this advertisement. Whatever injury may have resulted from frost is now beyond repair, and why should it occasion needless worry. Whether the wheat is "No. 1 Hard" or "No. 3 frozen"—whether the price is Eighty cents or Four dollars—whether we are obliged to consume "superfine" or "low grade flour,"

WE MUST WEAR CLOTHING !

And the object in view, in contracting for this space, was to briefly refer to the advantages you gain by leaving your orders with

Dakota Mortgages.

From Aberdeen Star.

Since October, 1881 there have been recorded in Brown county, South Dakota, sixty thousand chattel mortgages, and over forty thousand real estate mortgages. The twin city newspapers declare that mortgages are an evidence of prosperity. We hope they will take notice that we are a very prosperous community—from their stand point. There are fifty counties in South Dakota. If the other counties have been equally fortunate in acquiring evidences of prosperity, there have been five million mortgages filed in South Dakota; but it is possible the blessings of the Omnipotent have not been showered so freely all over the state, so we may reduce the estimate a million, or two. Indeed, Brown county being the garden spot of South Dakota, it may be fair to presume the other counties will not average more than one half our "evidences of prosperity." This would give us two and a half million mortgages filed in the state in eleven years. There are forty four states. If these are plastered one half as thickly as Brown county, we have a grand total of one hundred and ten million. On a basis of population, Brown county people have accumulated six mortgages for each person, nursing babies not excepted. This same average will give the people of the whole country three hundred and seventy million mortgages. If sixty per cent. of these are chattel mortgages, there would be left one hundred and forty-four million mortgages on real estate filed in eleven years. But Parker, the Englishman whom Ben Harrison selected to take a census of the United States, made a diligent search, or says he did, and could only find two million mortgaged homes in the whole country. We must therefore conclude Brown county prosperity is phenomenal. The financial goose hangs high hereabouts. Then, let us rejoice! Let us hug our mortgages to our bosoms and bless the grand old Republican party for the legacy it has bequeathed. We will hang our sheriff deeds as wreaths of immortality on the party tombstone. God bless our mortgaged homes!

The Province of Quebec Lottery.

Among the numerous people attending the drawing of this day, 16 September, was a well known architect of Montreal, Mr. Simon Lesage. This gentleman created quite a sensation in the hall when he drew the second capital prize $5,000.00, was called out, he being the fortunate bearer of the winning ticket and rejoicing about his good luck.

Mr. Lesage had already drawn $30 in the drawing of the 2nd inst. and had invested the whole amount in tickets of to-day's drawing.

ELECTRICITY AS APPLIED BY THE OWEN

ELECTRIC BELT AND APPLIANCES

It is now recognized as the greatest boon offered to the suffering humanity. It has, does and will effect cures in seemingly hopeless cases where every other known means has failed. Rheumatism cannot exist where it is properly applied. It is Nature's cure. By its steady, soothing current, it is equal to all it will cure.

Rheumatism, Sciatica, Spinal Disease, General Debility, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Nervous Complaints, Spasmodic, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Impotency, Constipation, Kidney Disease, Valvular, Sexual Complaints, Epilepsy or Fits, Urinary Diseases, Lame Back,

RHEUMATISM

It is not pleasant to be compelled to refer to the indolent, but that medical science has utterly failed to afford relief in rheumatic cases. We venture the assertion that although electricity has only been in use as a medical agent for a few years, it has cured more cases of Rheumatism than all other means combined. Some of our leading physicians, recognizing this fact, are availing themselves of this most potent of Nature's forces in supplying defects and correcting irregularities.

TO RESTORE MANHOOD AND WOMANHOOD

As a man has not yet discovered all of Nature's laws for right living, it follows that every day he commits more or less errors which have left visible blotches. To erase these evidences of past errors, there is nothing to equal Electricity as applied by the Owen Electric Belt Battery. Rest assured that any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is inflicting a most dangerous form of charlatanism. Use the Electric Belt—and then the drug stores.

WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD

To show an Electric Belt where the current is under the control of the patient as to its action. We can use the same belt on an infant that we would on a giant by simply reducing the number of cells. Ordinary belts are not so. Other belts have been in the market for five or ten years longer, but to day there are more Owen Belts manufactured and sold than any other makers combined. Rheumatism and cure Chills and Cramps in the feet and legs. Price $1.00, sent by mail.

EXTRACTS FROM CANADIAN TESTIMONIALS:

"For eight years I have suffered with rheumatism, and am now out of pain and growing better daily and in my 5th year. Can confidently recommend the Owen Belt, when everything else fails." A. Meszies, Niagara Falls.

"Having some knowledge of electricity and its power, and having used other belts, give to my use of yours, I can say that it is the best I have ever worn." Jas. Blair, Port Huron, Mich.

"Your Electric Belt cured a violent attack of sciatic rheumatism of several months standing in eight days." Jas. Dixon, Sen. Grand Valley, Ont.

"I saved my life when I had muscular rheumatism," Mrs. Carroll, 105 West Market St., St. Louis.

"Am much pleased with belt; it has done me a great deal of good already." J. Sergerin, Gt. Ont.

"Have been a sufferer for years from nervous headaches and neuralgia. After trying one of your belts, am more than satisfied with it. Can knock out a headache in about fifteen minutes that used to keep me in bed for days." Thomas Paine, Crawford Place, Toronto.

In Jane and Ebenezer,
